BULLETIN.
Roosevelt Special Train, South Milwaukee, Wis.—Before Col. Roosevelt would lie down he insisted upon shaving himself, despite the protests of surgeons who accompanied him. He deliberately shaved, taking pains to have his face smooth and well attended before he sought his state room.

BULLETIN.
Chicago.—The special train bearing Col. Roosevelt from Milwaukee to Chicago is expected to arrive here near 5 o'clock Tuesday morning after a slow run from Milwaukee. Rooms have been prepared for him at the Presbyterian hospital and all the arrangements made for the removal of the bullet. This probably will be in charge of Dr. John B. Murphy, assisted by several other leading surgeons off Chicago.

BULLETIN.
The positive statement that Col. Roosevelt was not injured seriously was made by Dr. Frederick A. Stratton of Milwaukee, one of the physicians who examined the colonel. Dr. Stratton said there was no cause for alarm as to the colonel's condition. "The wound was a superficial one," said Dr. Stratton. "The bullet is imbedded in the muscular tissue. All that we did at the hospital was to put on anesthetic dressing."

Milwaukee, Oct. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded tonight as he was leaving the Gilpatrick hotel for the Coliseum to make a speech. The wound was superficial and the colonel went on to the hall and began his speech after he had seen the assassin arrested and taken to the police station.

Henry P. Cochems seized the assassin and held him until police came up. A mob surged around the man, who apparently is a radical on the subject of Roosevelt's running for another term as president. The assassin who is small of stature, admitting firing the shot and said that "any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."

In notes found in the man's pockets at the police station were statements that the man had been visited in a dream by the spirit of Wm. McKinley, who had said, indicating Colonel Roosevelt, "this is my murderer, avenge my death."

Had Colonel's Itinerary.
He had on his person a complete description of the colonel's itinerary which was written on the back of a sheet of note paper taken from the Bismarck hotel and cafe at Nashville, Tenn.

The would-be assassin is five feet, five inches in height, weight 170 pounds, light complexion, bald, dress medium.

He confessed to the police that he fired the shot and made the remark: "Any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."

A written proclamation found on the clothing of the man who did the shooting reads:

"Sept. 15, 1912; Sept. 15, 1901. 1:30 a. m. In a dream I saw President McKinley sit in a monk's attire in whom I recognized Theodore Roosevelt. The dead president said: 'this is my murderer, avenge my death.'"

"I could see plainly Mr. McKinley's features. Before the Almighty God, I swear this above writing is nothing but the truth."

Crank About Third Term.
Another note found in the man's pocket reads:

"So long as Japan could rise to the greatest power of the world despite her surviving a tradition more than 2,000 years old, as General Nogi so nobly demonstrated, it is the duty of the United States of America to uphold the third term tradition. Let every third term be regarded as a traitor to the American cause. Let it be the right and duty of every citizen to forcibly remove a third term. Never let a third term party emblem appear on the official ballot.

"I am willing to die for my country. God has called me to be his instrument, so help me God."

Roosevelt Felt No Pain.
It is believed that Colonel Roosevelt's injury is not serious. The colonel felt no pain at the time the shot was fired and was not aware that he was shot until he was on the way to the auditorium. His attention was then called to a hold in his overcoat, and he found that his shirt was soaked with blood. He insisted that he was not hurt badly. A superficial examination of the wound was made when he reached the auditorium and three physicians agreed that he was in no immediate grave danger.

Colonel Roosevelt's life probably was saved by a manuscript of the speech which he delivered tonight. The bullet struck the manuscript which retarded its course as it passed through the flesh. The assassin was prevented from firing a second shot by Albert H. Martin, one of Colonel Roosevelt's two secretaries. Colonel Roosevelt had just stepped into an automobile when the assassin pushed his way through the crowd in the street and fired. Martin, who was standing in the car with the colonel, leaped onto the man's shoulders and bore him to the ground. Captain A. O. Girard of Milwaukee who was on the front seat, jumped almost at the same time, and in an instant the man was disarmed.

Crowd Raised Lynch Cry.
A wild cry of "lynch him" went up from the crowd. Colonel Roosevelt spoke to the people and told them to spare the assassin. The man was taken into the hotel and held there until he was removed to the police station. In spite of the entreaties of physicians, Colonel Roosevelt insisted upon delivering his address.

"I will make this speech or die, one or the other," he said.

Harry P. Cochems, one of the Wisconsin Progressive leaders told the great crowd which had assembled in the auditorium that Colonel Roosevelt had been shot and asked the people to be calm.

The shooting took place in the street in front of the Hotel Gilpatrick. Colonel Roosevelt reentered the hotel shortly after five o'clock and making his way through the crowd which had gathered at the station, entered an automobile and was driven to the hotel. He took dinner in a private dining room on the main floor with the members of the party on his private car.

After dinner Colonel Roosevelt went to his room on the second floor of the hotel and shortly before eight o'clock he started for the auditorium his automobile stood in front of the door and about it was a crowd of several hundred persons who were waiting to catch a glimpse of the colonel as he started off. With the colonel were Phillip Roosevelt, a young cousin, Mr. Cochems, Mr. Martin and Captain Girard.

The crowd pressed close about the colonel and gave a cheer as he appeared.

Fired as Colonel Waved.
As the party reached the automobile Col. Roosevelt's companions stood aside and he stepped into the car. Martin entered directly behind him and sat on the further side of the car. Col. Roosevelt stood up, waving his hat in answer to the cheers of the crowd. The assassin was standing in the crowd a few feet from the automobile. He pushed his way to the side of the car, raised his gun and fired. Martin caught the flash of the revolver before the shot was fired and leaped over the car a second after the bullet sped on its way. Col. Roosevelt barely moved as the shot was fired. Before the crowd knew what had happened Martin, who is six feet tall and a former football player, had landed squarely on the assassin's shoulders and had borne him to the ground. He threw his right arm about the man's neck with a death-like grip and with his left arm seized the hand that held the revolver. In another second, he had disarmed him. Col. Roosevelt stood calmly looking on as though nothing had happened and, Martin picked the man up as though he were a child and carried him the few feet which separated them from the car, almost to the side of the colonel.

Roosevelt Saved Would-be Assassin.
"Here he is," said Martin, "look at him colonel."

All this happened within a few seconds and Col. Roosevelt stood gazing rather curiously at the man who had attempted his life before the stunned crowd realized what was going on. Then a howl of rage went up.

"Lynch him, kill him," cried a hundred men. The crowd pressed in on them and Martin and Captain Girard, who had followed Martin over to the side of the automobile, were caught with their prisoner in the midst of a struggling throng of madmen. It seemed for the moment that the assassin would be torn to pieces by the infuriated men and it was Col. Roosevelt himself who intervened on behalf of the man.

He raised his hand and motioned to the crowd to fall back. "Stand back; don't hurt him."

The men in the crowd at first were not disposed to heed his words, but at length fell back and permitted Martin and Captain Girard to carry the man into the hotel. After a short struggle the assassin gave up and was carried without resistance out of the reach of the crowd.

"Are you hurt, Colonel?" a hundred voices called out. "Oh no, he responded with a smile. 'Missed me that time. I'm not hurt a bit.'"

"I think we'd better be going along," he said to the other members of his party or we will be late."

Found Hole in Colonel's Coat.
No one in the party, including Col. Roosevelt, entertained the slightest notion that the colonel had been shot. He felt no shock or pain at the time and it was assumed that the bullet went wild.

As soon as Col. Roosevelt had assured himself that the assassin was safe in the hands of the police, he gave orders to drive to the Auditorium.

They had driven hardly one of the four blocks from the hotel to the Auditorium when John McGrath, another of Colonel Roosevelt's secretaries, uttered a sharp exclamation and pointed to the colonel's breast.

"Look colonel," he said, "there's a hole in your overcoat."

Colonel Roosevelt looked down, saw the hole, then unbuttoned the big brown army coat which he was wearing and thrust his hand beneath it. When he withdrew it, his fingers were stained with blood.

Colonel Roosevelt was not at all dismayed by the discovery. "It looks as though I had been hit," he said, "but I don't think it's anything serious."

Would Not Return to Hotel.
Dr. Scurry Terrill, of Dallas, Tex., Col. Roosevelt's physician, who had entered the automobile just as it started off, insisted that the colonel return to the hotel. He would not hear of it, however, and the car was driven on to the auditorium.

As they reached the building, Col. Roosevelt was taken into a dressing room and his outer garments were removed. Dr. Terrill, with the help of Dr. John Stratton of Milwaukee and Dr. Sorenson of Racine, Wis., who were in the audience and came to the dressing room on a call from the platform, made a superficial examination of the wound. They agreed it was impossible to hazard a guess as to the extent of the colonel's injuries and that he should by all means go at once to a hospital.

"I will deliver this speech or die, one or the other," was Col. Roosevelt's reply. Despite the protests of his physicians the colonel strode out of the dressing room and one to the stage. Several thousand persons, packed into the big building, cheered loudly as he entered and without a word to indicate what had happened went to his seat. For several minutes the crowd, no man of whom suspected that the colonel bore a bullet in his body, kept up its cheering.

Then Mr. Cochems stepped to the front of the platform and held up his hand.

There was something in his manner which had its effect upon the crowd and the cheering died suddenly away.

Cochems Told to Shooting.
"I have something to tell you," said Mr. Cochems, "and I hope you will receive the news with calmness."

His voice shook as he spoke and a deathlike stillness settled over the throng.

"Colonel Roosevelt has been shot. He is wounded," he spoke in a low tone, but such was the stillness, that everyone heard him. A cry of astonishment and horror went up from the crowd which was thrown into confusion at an instant. Mr. Cochems turned and looked inquiringly at Colonel Roosevelt. "Tell us, are you hurt?"

Men and women shouted wildly. Some of them rose from their seats and rushed forward to look more closely at the colonel.

The colonel rose and walked to the edge of the platform to quiet the crowd. He raised his hand and instantly there was silence.

"It's true," he said. Then slowly he unbuttoned his coat and placed his hand on his breast. Those in the front of the crowd could catch sight of the bloodstained garment.

Roosevelt Calmed Audience.
"I'm going to ask you to be very quiet," said Colonel Roosevelt, "and please excuse me from making you a very long speech. I'll do the best I can, but you see, there's a bullet in my body. But it's nothing. I'm not hurt badly."

A sigh of relief went up from the crowd, and then an outburst of tumultuous cheering. Thoroughly reassured by the colonel's action, that he was in no serious danger the people presently settled back into their seats to hear his speech.

"Colonel Roosevelt began to speak in a firm voice, somewhat lower than its usual tone and except that his characteristic gestures were less emphatic than usual, there was nothing about the man to indicate his condition. After he had been speaking a few moments, however, his voice sank somewhat, and he seemed to stand rather unsteadily. Dr. Terrill and Colonel Lyon stepped up to him and the doctor insisted that he stop.

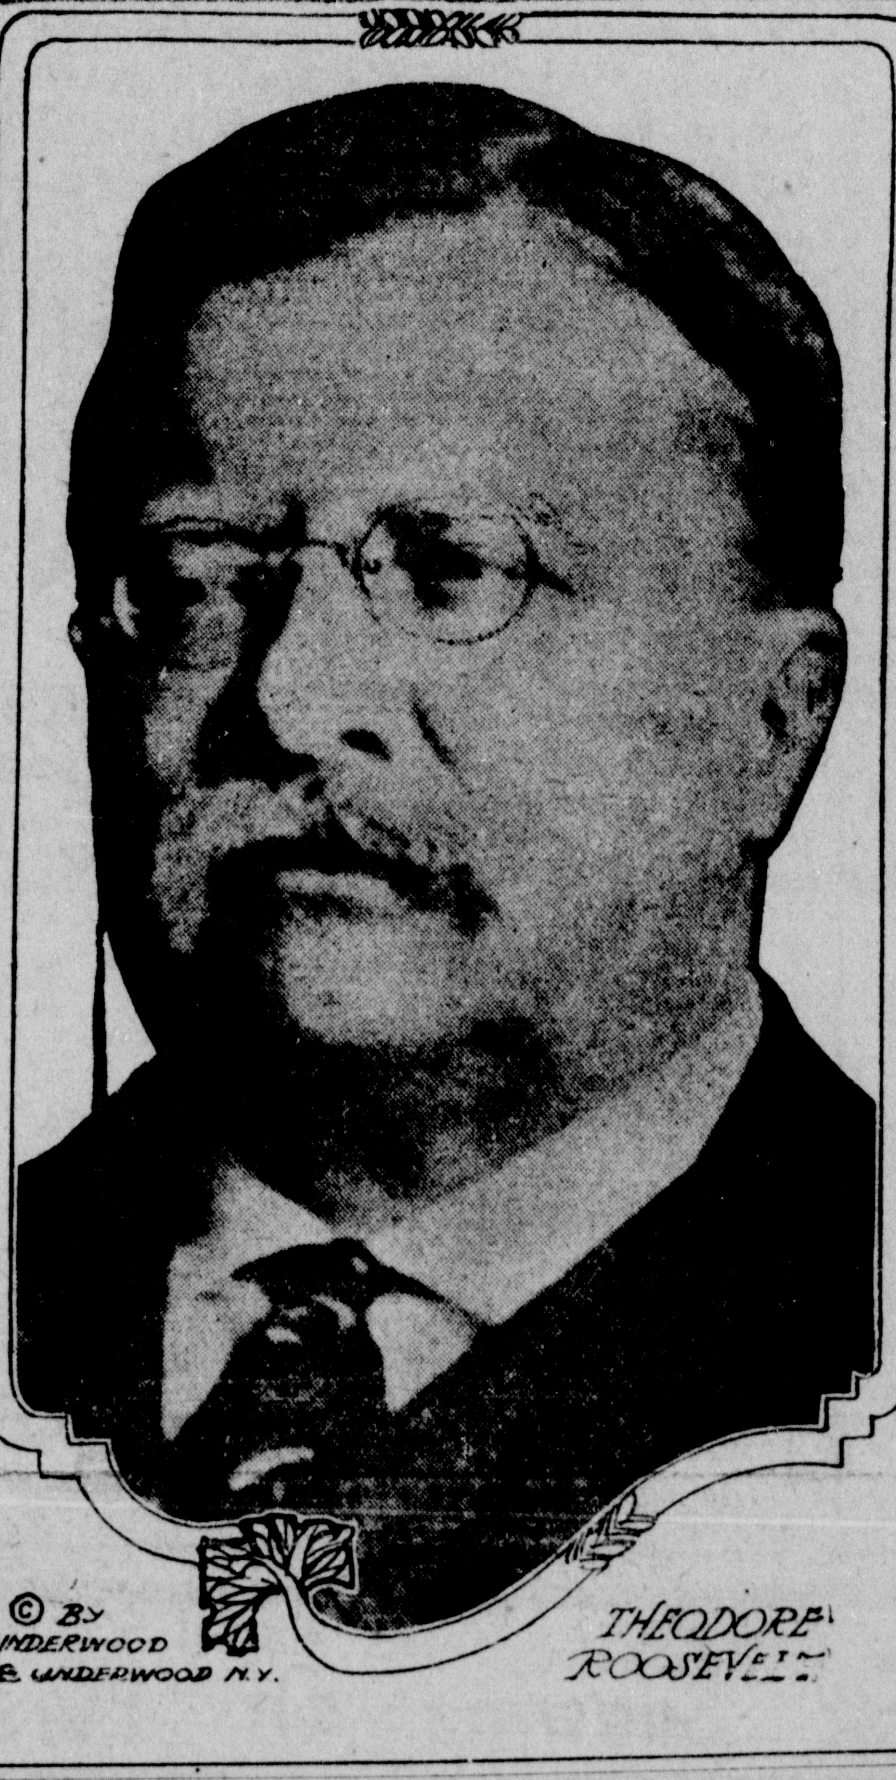

Insisted on Speaking.
"I'm going to finish this speech," said the colonel emphatically. "I'm all right. Let me alone."

Dr. Terrill and Col. Lyon sat down again. The colonel continued his speech evidently with increasing effort, but he succeeded in making himself heard and talked for more than an hour. Then he was rushed to his automobile and flashed to the Emergency hospital.

The operating room had been placed in readiness to receive Colonel Roosevelt and six of the leading surgeons of Milwaukee were awaiting his arrival.

Colonel Roosevelt was undressed and layed upon the operating table, although he insisted that he was not badly hurt and that the doctors were taking it too seriously. An examination of the wound showed that it had been made by a bullet of large size. It entered the fleshy part of the breast half way between the collar bone and lower rib. The physicians found that they knew no

SCHRENK SAYS SPIRIT OF M'KINLEY BADE HIM ACT

Schrenk Tells Story.
"After a long cross examination the man talked."

The shooting was the result of a carefully laid plan by Schrenk, which was often frustrated, but in which he finally succeeded, according to his story. He formerly ran a saloon at 370 Tenth street, between Avenues B and C, New York City, he said.

He was born in Erding, Bavaria, two hours out of Munich, the capital. He is 36 years old, and came to this country when he was a year old, with his parents. He had been engaged in the saloon business, as proprietor, and as an employee of members of his family nearly all his life, until he decided that it was his duty to kill Col. Roosevelt. He said he had been personally acquainted with Roosevelt since he was police commissioner in New York in 1895.

He said he was first attracted to him as a political personage during the convention in Chicago. Then he said he began to think seriously of him as a menace to this country when he cried "thief" at that convention. He looked upon his plan to start a third party as a danger to the country. He said his knowledge of history, gained through much reading, convinced him that Roosevelt was engaged in a dangerous undertaking. He declared that he was convinced that if he was defeated at the polls he would again call "thief" and that his action would plunge the country into bloody war. He said he considered it his duty after much consideration of the situation to put him out of the way. He was living at his home address at that time, he said, but soon after he had a dream in which former President McKinley appeared to him. He was told by McKinley in this dream that it was not Czolgosz who murdered him but Roosevelt. He said McKinley in this dream told him that the blood was on Roosevelt's hands and that Roosevelt had killed him so that he might become president.

Impressed by Reading.
Schrenk said that he was a person more deeply impressed by what he read in the newspaper than others, and that after having read the news was more than convinced than ever that he should free the country from the menace of Roosevelt's ambition. On Sept. 21 he moved to the White hotel on Canal street near the Bowery. He went soon afterward to a gunstore on Broadway and purchased a revolver. He then purchased a ticket to Charleston, S. C., and went to that city by steamer. His first plan was to catch the Roosevelt party in New Orleans, he said, but he found this impossible. He accordingly went to Charleston and upon his arrival there had $300 left.

He left a bag at Mosely House in that city which contained, besides the box in which the revolver he had purchased had been packed, a deed to property in Eighty-first St., New York, worth $25,000 and his naturalization papers. The bag is there now.

Made Five Attempts.
Not being able to carry out his plan in Charleston he proceeded to Atlanta, Ga., then to Chattanooga, Tenn., and from there to Evansville, Indianapolis, Ind., and Chicago. In each of these cities he tried to shoot Roosevelt but was unable to waylay him. He decided to shoot him as he arrived in Chicago and waited for him at the Chicago & Northwestern station but the intended victim did not arrive there.

He then decided to do the shooting at the Coliseum but in this case, as in others, Roosevelt left the building from an entrance other than the one at which he stationed himself. During all this time he travelled under the name of Walter Ross, except at Charleston, where he gave his right name. While in Chicago Saturday he was at the Jackson hotel and decided after his failure at the Coliseum to come to Milwaukee in advance of the party and lay his plans so carefully that he could not fail.

Carefully Planned Attack.
He came to Milwaukee Sunday morning and went to the Argyle, a lodging house on Third street. He said he then purchased a newspaper to inform himself as to Roosevelt's whereabouts and learned on Monday that he was to arrive at 5 o'clock. He learned also that he was to be a guest at the Gilpatrick, and managed to get in a position near the entrance where he could shoot to kill when Roosevelt appeared. Schrenk said he was sorry that he had caused all this trouble for the good people of Milwaukee and Wisconsin, but that he was not sorry that he carried out his plan. When Schrenk was searched at the Central police station he had $144.19 of the $300 which he said he had when he arrived at Charleston.

Schrenk Talks Fluently.
The man talked fluently and was willing to answer most of the questions put to him. He used excellent English and seemed to be well satisfied with his deed. While being quizzed he sat easily in a big leather chair and looked his questioners squarely in the eye.

ISLANDS ARE DISCOVERED.
Valparaiso, Chile, Oct. 14.—Three new islands without vegetation, supposed to be the result of a recent marine upheaval, were discovered 60 miles southwest of Juan Fernandez by the captain of the steamer Glenalvon, who reported them on his arrival here.

TAFT AND WILSON EXPRESS REGRET

CANDIDATES' GLAD TO LEARN ROOSEVELT'S INJURIES ARE SLIGHT.

Mrs. Roosevelt Received Message Telling of Attack While at Theater—Was Well Controlled and Hastened to Progressive Headquarters For Further Facts.

New York, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt was attending a musical comedy at a Broadway theatre tonight at the time the attempt was being made upon her husband's life in Milwaukee. The news was broken to her as she sat in a box with a party of friends. In fear that the announcement of the attempted assassin might be made from the stage and be a necessarily great shock to the colonel's wife, George W. Perkins, chairman of the executive committee of the national Progressive party, who was among the first to receive the news, had despatched a messenger to Mrs. Roosevelt.

Relieved by Early Bulletins.
Although assurances were given in the first despatch that Col. Roosevelt had not been seriously wounded, Mrs. Roosevelt was alarmed and immediately left the theatre, driving to the headquarters of the national Progressive party. Here she awaited further details from Milwaukee. She was considerably relieved by the early bulletins reporting that the colonel had been so slightly wounded that he was able to proceed with his speech.

She was alarmed again later, however, when the wires told of the removal of the colonel to a hospital and a doubt among his physicians as to the seriousness of the wound. Mrs. Roosevelt had not been able to decide as these reports came in as to whether to leave tonight for Milwaukee and Mr. Perkins said that announcement of Mrs. Roosevelt's intentions would be made later. As to how Mrs. Roosevelt had received the news, Mr. Perkins only said:

"Just as such a woman as Mrs. Roosevelt would receive it."

Taft Expresses Regret.
President Taft and Governor Wilson were among others to be quickly advised of the attempted assassination of Col. Roosevelt. The president was at a banquet at which the mayor was giving tonight to the president, members of his cabinet, 600 naval officers and several distinguished citizens when the news was communicated. It was evident that the report fell upon the president's ears as a great blow. He was talking with Mayor Gaynor at the time and after hearing the news sat silent for several minutes. He declined at first to make any statement, being apparently reluctant to credit the report. Later, as the news was confirmed, the president said to the newspaper men:

"I am very sorry to learn of the assault upon Col. Roosevelt and I am glad to learn that no harm was done."

At the time the president made this statement, bulletins from Milwaukee gave assurance that Col. Roosevelt had sustained practically no injury. The speakers at the dinner avoided reference to the reports but the news had soon spread to all there and the news was so much discussion of the report that little attention was given to the speakers.

News Told to Wilson.
Governor Wilson was at his home at Princeton, N. J., when newspaper men advised him of the attempt to kill the Progressive candidate.

"It is with the greatest distress that I hear this," said Governor Wilson, "but I rejoice that Col. Roosevelt has apparently escaped serious injury."

Colonel Roosevelt's son, Theodore, Jr., heard of the attack on his father late tonight and hurried to Progressive headquarters to meet his mother and await details from Milwaukee.

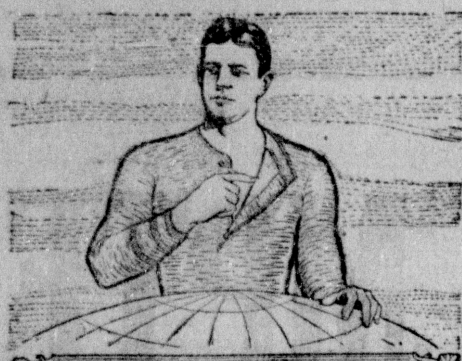

Will Go to Chicago.
Mrs. Roosevelt probably will leave for Chicago tomorrow. George E. Roosevelt, a cousin of Colonel Roosevelt made this announcement late tonight saying that the colonel's wife would spend the remainder of the night at his Fifth avenue home.

SPRINGER SELLS DENVER BANK STOCK

COL. HUGHES SECURES CONTROL OF CONTINENTAL TRUST CO.

St. Louis Millionaire Again a Factor in Well Known Western Financial Institution—Allan F. Ayers to Remain as Vice President—Miss Springer Soon to Wed.

Col. William E. Hughes, of St.
Louis, a brother of Miss Eliza
Hughes of this city, has purchased the interest of John W. Springer in the Continental Trust Co., of Denver. The announcement in the Rocky Mountain News also states that Allan F. Ayers is to remain as vice president of the company.
Mention is made also of the approaching marriage of Mr. Springer's daughter to Lafayette Hughes. The young man is not related to Col.
Hughes and is a son of Ex-Senator Hughes of Colorado. The article from the Rocky Mountain News is as follows:

"An event of widespread interest in financial and business circles transpired yesterday when Colonel William E. Hughes, millionaire banker and cattleman, purchased the interest of John W. Springer in the Continental Trust company, amounting to 2,000 of the 3,000 shares of the capital stock of that institution.
The company is capitalized at $300,000.
On November 1, 1912, Springer will retire from the presidency of that institution and Colonel Hughes will become its active head.

It is announced that the new owner of the company will continue the vigorous and progressive policy which has marked the institution and that its scope will be even broader.

"No other change in the officers of the company has been announced.
It is reported that Allan F. Ayers, vice president and secretary, will remain in general charge of the institution, and that Forrester Spencer, vice president, will remain in charge of the trust department. It is also stated that with some slight changes the present directory and officers will be continued.

Colonel Hughes has always been more or less identified with Denver and Colorado interests and formerly owned the control of this same institution, selling to John W. Springer and associates about four years ago.
His becoming interested again in a Denver financial institution is accepted as a favorable indication of his continued confidence in Denver and Colorado.

Colonel Hughes has had a wide experience in the banking and trust business. He formerly was president of the Union Trust company of St.
Louis and is still a large holder in that institution. He also has heavy banking interests in Texas and is the chief stockholder in the Continental Cattle company, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the West, with a capital of $3,000,000, which owns several hundred thousand acres of land in Texas and large herds of cattle.

"Colonel Springer owns a great deal of property in Denver. He has been prominently identified in the banking life of Denver for a number of years, having been one of the founders of the Continental Trust company and having been instrumental in the formation of the Federal Trust & Savings bank (now the Federal National bank) and the Capitol National bank. He was for many years president of the National Livestock association and has always been identified with the upbuilding of the city and state.

"The Continental Trust company is in a very flourishing condition, deposits at the close of business yesterday being $886,000. The company owns the Continental building in which its banking house is located at Sixteenth and Lawrence streets.

"Colonel Hughes left Denver last evening for Texas and will later visit St. Louis, Mo., his present home, and will return to Denver about November 1.

"Colonel Hughes and Mrs. Hughes, and their granddaughter, Miss Annie Clifton Springer, daughter of Col.
Springer, have been stopping at the Brown hotel for several weeks. They spent the summer at Perry Park, which Colonel Hughes recently sold to J. George Leyner.

"Mrs. Hughes and Miss Springer left for New York city on Monday to make arrangements for a part of Miss Springer's trousseau. She is to be married to Lafayette Hughes of Denver in December."

Conservation

There's lot of talk these days about conserving the forests and other national resources and it's important talk, too. That's a national interest. But the question that has a more personal interest is that of conserving one's own resources.

CITY COUNCIL IN SHORT SESSION

Invitation Is Extended to Anti-Horse Thief Association for 1913 State Meeting—Reports Received From Dr. King and Miss Weller.

A regular session of the city council was held Monday morning and it was a very brief one. Mayor Davis called the council to order at 10 o'clock and all members were found to be present. Mr. Pratt read the minutes and they were approved.

Mayor Davis stated that John K. Long had asked that an invitation be extended by the city for the 1913 meeting of the Illinois Anti-Horse Thief association. The council directed that such an invitation be extended and that everything possible be done to have the convention of 1913 held in Jacksonville. Two officers' reports were received and placed on file, that of Dr. A. M. King, health warden and that of Miss Weller, matron.

Dr. A. M. King reported for September. Total deaths in September 30. Ages, under one, 4; five to twenty, 1; twenty to fifty, 7; fifty to seventy, 12; over seventy, 6.

Miss Weller submitted the following report. One case of a mother neglecting the proper care of her child. One boy sent to White Hall on account of his step-father refusing to care for him. One boy report as running with bad company and playing around a disreputable house. One complaint of a mother punishing her children unmercifully. Case of cruelty to horses, also reported. One colored girl reported as delinquent and unmanageable. One family of four motherless children reported as being neglected by the father. All these cases have been visited and investigated and almost every one made to correct irregularities.

Nothing further appearing the council adjourned.

Dance, Socialist hall, Thursday night.

Henderson, superintendent of the northern division, and C. W. Miller, superintendent of the southern division, both having offices in Bloomington. The change is to take effect today.

"THE ROSARY."
The stage settings in "The Rosary," Rowland and Clifford's play which will be seen at the Grand Saturday night, are very unique. The first act occurs in a wonderful and beautiful grape arbor; the second and third acts are laid in a charming interior, showing the atmosphere of serene home life, while the fourth is a new church built by the unbelieving husband for his friend, the priest. After all the discussions of the play, a wonderful effect is attained by the peace and serene quiet of the church, where the man and the woman who have suffered, come at last to lay down their burden and find peace. The character of Fr. Kelly as portrayed by John Drury is most interesting.

The degree staff of the Odd Fellows lodge of Arcadia, consisting of twenty-five men, were in Jacksonville Monday night, practicing for the coming Central Illinois Odd Fellows association, which will meet in Jacksonville next week. ROOSEVELT'S LIFE IS ATTEMPTED more after their examination than before as to the location of the bullet and it was decided to send for an X-ray machine so as to determine to what depth the bullet had penetrated.

Joked With Physicians.

While he was waiting for the X-ray machine, Colonel Roosevelt sat up on the operating table and talked politics and joked with the physicians.

In the meantime, hidden away in an inner room in the police station, Colonel Roosevelt's assailant was being submitted to a rigid examination. He refused stubbornly to give account of himself, and would say nothing except that "I will tell you tomorrow."

After a long siege, however, the police forced from him the statement that he was John Schrank, of 370 East Tenth street, New York.

Clippings found in the man's pockets showed that he had studied Colonel Roosevelt's itinerary carefully, with the evident intention of selecting the place at which he might accomplish what he had in mind. It was said at the Gilpatrick hotel, while Col. Roosevelt was a dinner, a short, dark man of about 40 years made four attempts to gain admission to the dining room, being turned away each time. Those who saw him said that he bore no resemblance to Schrank. From this circumstance the report gained currency that two men were engaged in the attempt to take Colonel Roosevelt's life. The police to night were unable to gain any evidence to bear out this theory. Mr. Martin, to whom Col. Roosevelt perhaps owes his life, told the story of his adventure.

Martin Tells Story.

"I walked down stairs with the colonel and out to the car," he said, "and had taken my seat before anything happened. As Col. Roosevelt was standing in the car waving his hat to the crowd, the flash of metal caught my eye. I did not stop to think what I was doing and before I really knew it, I jumped over the side of the car and had my arm around the man's neck. Everything seemed to happen at once.

"There was a flash, a sound of a shot, and I was on the ground with the man. I threw one arm about his neck and held him fast. At the same time I caught his gun-hand with my free hand and wrenched the revolver from him. He struggled for a minute, but in spite of the fact that he was acting like a mad man he did not keep up the fight long, and, with the help of Captain Girard I soon had him under control.

Crowds stood in Sycamore street outside the hospital awaiting news of Col. Roosevelt's condition, the statement of the attending physicians was taken out and read aloud. The crowd started with a cheer, but it was suppressed for fear that the noise might annoy the colonel. Reassured by the news the people for the most part walked off. When the colonel left the hospital walking unassisted, there were only a few persons on the street.

"How are you feeling, colonel," said one of the local committeemen when he came down the elevator from the operating room just after an X-ray picture had been taken. "Fine," announced the colonel as he passed along he had a pleasant word to say to those who greeted him in turn. The colonel was said to be resting easily in his private car "Mayflower" when he left.

Reporter Tells Story.

A newspaper reporter, who was standing in the crowd in front of the hotel, and witnessed the shooting, gave the following account:

"Colonel Roosevelt just descended from his room in the second story in front of the hotel where he had been receiving calls from friends and admirers and had passed through a cheering crowd in the corridor, accompanied by a growing escort as he neared the door. The door way was cleared and on the sidewalk a passageway was maintained by Sergeant Mooney, who saluted the colonel as he passed and turned to watch him as he kept on toward the automobile.

"Arriving at the curb, Colonel Roosevelt extended his hands toward the frames of the doorway to the rear compartment his hands toward the frames of the doorway to the rear compartment, his body inclining slightly to the front. It was just as he was rising into the automobile, supported by the grip he had on the frame, that the shot intended to take his life, was fired.

Col. Roosevelt gave no indication by movement that he felt the impact of the bullet, but there was a sound as though of a groan coming from his direction.

"A moment after the shot, Col. Roosevelt put his right hand on his overcoat, well up near the shoulder on the left side and rubbed it slightly. Then he sat down in the car. In the excitement and confusion that prevailed some one ordered the chauffeur to drive on. The machine moved on.

"Meantime the man who fired the shot was captured.

"The assassin was at once hurried out of the crowd. He offered resistance, but was helpless in the hands that grasped him. He was half carried as he was hurried through the corridor of the hotel into the dining room and thence into the kitchen where he was put through a hurried and pressing interrogation by Sergeant Mooney and the others present, but without eliciting a single statement. He finally was slipped out of the rear door of the hotel into the alley where the police wagon had been summoned to receive him. Hundreds of persons followed the patrol as it was driven at a rapid speed down the streets and across the On-elda street bridge.

"Scores reached the Central police station in automobiles and carriages, and before the wagon could be backed up to the station door the crowd pushed forward.

"Lynch him was the cry, but policemen were stationed along the walk and the crowd did not attempt violence. With an officer on each side of him the man was led into the station and up to the desk. He was hurried into the sergeant's office, where he was quizzed but he refused to talk.

Schrenk was taken to the cell-room after he was first questioned by Sergeant Flood and refused to talk.

Chief of Police John T. Janssen was called to the station and the man was taken to the chief's room where he was quizzed. It was under this cross fire of questions by the chief that the man first began to talk. He answered every question put to him.

Willingly the man went back to the cell. Later several members of the Progressive party who are accompanying Roosevelt on his trip reached the station and asked that they be allowed to talk to the man.

He was again led up stairs to the chief's private office where he told the same story. He had a good memory and did not become confused.

Might Be Last Message.

"I want to give the people all that is in me. It may be my last message."

This was Colonel Roosevelt's last word before he stepped onto the platform at the auditorium to make his speech tonight. He was walking with Henry Cochems who was doing his best to prevent the colonel from carrying out his plan to make a speech regardless of consequences.

Mr. Cochems said that immediately after Schrenk had been carried into the hotel he placed his hand on the colonel's shoulder, pushed him down to his seat and urged they go at once to a hospital.

"Don't get excited Henry!" he told me, "It is not serious."

"The colonel was not a bit alarmed when he discovered he was bleeding. 'I guess the bullet entered my body all right,' he said. 'But let's drive on to the hall, I'm feeling pretty good.'"

"In spite of all I could do, the colonel insisted upon going to the auditorium."

PHYSICIANS' STATEMENT.

Message Sent to Progressive Headquarters Gives Assurance That Wound Is Not Serious.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—At Progressive headquarters here the following message was received from Milwaukee, sent by the surgeons attending Colonel Roosevelt:

"Colonel Roosevelt is suffering from a superficial flesh wound in the right breast. There is no evidence of injury to the lung. The bullet is probably somewhere in the chest wall. There is only one wound. The bleeding is insignificant. The wound has been sterilized externally with sterilized gauze by Dr. P. T. Fayle, the consulting surgeon of the Emergency hospital. The bullet passed through Colonel Roosevelt's army overcoat and other clothing and through a manuscript and spectacle case in his breast pocket and its course was nearly spent before it penetrated the chest. The appearance of the wound also shows evidence of a much spent bullet. Colonel Roosevelt is not suffering from the shock and is in no pain. His condition is so good that the surgeons did not object to his continuing his journey to Chicago in his private car. In Chicago he will be placed under surgical care.

PERKINS SHOCKED BY NEWS.

Hastily Sent Messages to Mrs. Roosevelt Who Was Attending Theater.

New York, Oct. 14.—George Perkins, chairman of the executive committee of the National Progressive party, was astounded when the Milwaukee flash of the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt was read to him.

He hurriedly dispatched messages to a theater where Mrs. Roosevelt was attending tonight to give her the news of the attempted assassination before she might be shocked by hearing the news read from the stage. Mr. Perkins assured her of the fact that the despatches agreed that the colonel was not at all seriously wounded and urged her not to Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—When news of the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt was given out at the meeting of the city council here tonight a resolution was immediately adopted denouncing the act and expressing the hope that the wound would not prove serious.

Not Registered at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14.—The assassin of Colonel Roosevelt who wrote notes on stationery of the Bismarck hotel here, never registered at that place under that name. The hotel has no writing room and stationery is procured only from the clerk, so it is believed probably Schrank might have stayed at the hotel recently under another name. No one at the hotel remembers a man of his description.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. ELECTION DAY NOT FAR AWAY

Voters Will go to Polls Three Weeks From Tuesday to Express Preference For Officials From President Down.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—Three weeks from next Tuesday the voters of the entire country will go to the polls to express their preferences for president and vice-president of the United States. The states of the union, with the exception of Maine and Vermont, will vote on the same day for members of the house of representatives of the sixty-third congress. The two states excepted have already held their elections.

On November 5 state officers will be elected in all the states excepting Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Vermont and Virginia. Earlier in the present year state officers were elected in Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine and Vermont. The election in Virginia will be held next year, while in Kentucky and Mississippi the present state officers held over until 1915.

The states that will elect governors at the election next month are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. In the other states in which elections are to be held only minor officials are to be selected.

In many of the states legislatures will be elected November 5, which will choose successors to United States senators whose terms expire March 4, 1913. The senators whose terms will end next March and whose successors have already been selected or will be named within the next few months are as follows:

Jefferson Davis (D.), Arkansas; Simon Guggenheim (R.), Colorado; H. A. Richardson (R.), Delaware; Augustus O. Bacon (D.), Georgia; William E. Borah (R.), Idaho; Shelby M. Cullom (R.), Illinois; William S. Kenyon (R.), Iowa; Charles Curtis (R.), Kansas; T. H. Paynter (D.), Kentucky; Murphy J. Foster (D.), Louisiana; Obadiah Gardner (D.), Maine; Winthrop M. Crane (R.), Massachusetts; William A. Smith (R.), Michigan; Knute Nelson (R.), Minnesota; LeRoy Percy (D.), Mississippi; Joseph M. Dixon (R.), Montana; Norris Brown (R.), Nebraska; H. E. Burnham (R.), New Hampshire; Frank O. Briggs (R.), New Jersey; F. McL. Simmons (D.), North Carolina; Robert L. Owen (D.), Oklahoma; Jonathan Bourne, Jr. (R.), Oregon; George P. Wetmore (R.), Rhode Island; Benjamin R. Tillman (D.), South Carolina; Robert J. Gamble (R.), South Dakota; Newell Saunders (R.), Tennessee; John W. Bailey (D.), Texas; Thomas S. Martin (D.), Virginia; C. W. Watson (D.), West Virginia; and Francis E. Warren (R.), Wyoming.

Of the senators named in the foregoing list only five are assured of the fact that they will sit in the upper branch of congress after March 4 next. They are Davis of Arkansas, Bacon of Georgia, Owen of Oklahoma, Tillman of South Carolina and Martin of Virginia. All five come from states that are solidly Democratic and as the Democrats in each case of the states have voted for the return of the senator his reelection in each case is assured.

In many of the other states it is equally certain that the incumbent will not be returned to the senate. Senators Guggenheim of Colorado, Crane of Massachusetts, Bailey of Texas and Wetmore of Rhode Island declines to become candidates for another term. Bailey of Texas will be succeeded by Congressman Morris Sheppard. Colorado voters of all parties have expressed their preference in the primary for the successor of Senator Guggenheim and also for the successor of the late Senator Hughes. In Massachusetts and Rhode Island the selections are yet to be made.

The fate of Senator Richardson of Delaware is in doubt. Borah of Idaho has been endorsed for re-election by his own party. Cullom of Illinois was defeated in the primaries. His successor will be L. Y. Sherman (R.) or J. Hamilton Lewis (D.). Senator Kenyon has been named for re-election by the Republicans of Iowa; Curtis of Kansas was defeated in the primaries. He will be succeeded by Governor Stubbs (R.) or Hugh Farrelly (D.). Ollie James has been named to succeed Senator Paynter of Kentucky. Senator Foster of Louisiana will be succeeded by Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell. Senator Gardner (D.), of Maine, will give way to former Congressman Edwin C. Burleigh (R.). Senator William Alden Smith has been endorsed for re-election by Michigan Republicans. If the Democrats control the next legislature Senator Smith's successor will be Alfred Lacking of Detroit. Knute Nelson of Minnesota has been renominated by the Republicans. If the legislature goes Democratic his successor will be Daniel Lawler of St. Paul. Senator Percy of Mississippi already has given way to former Governor Vardaman. The re-election of Dixon of Montana depends upon the success of the third party in his state, which party has endorsed him. The regular Republicans have put another candidate in the field. Senator Norris Brown of Nebraska was defeated in the Republican primaries by Congressman George W. Norris. In the event of Democratic success in Nebraska the next senator will be former Governor Shallenbarger. Senator Briggs is the choice of New Jersey Republicans for re-election. In the event of Democratic success the Briggs toga will fall upon the shoulders of former Congressman Hughes. Senator Simmons of North Carolina will have to win out in a hot three-cornered fight. Senator Bourne of Oregon was defeated in the primaries but may seek re-election as an independent. Thomas Sterling is the choice of South Dakota Republicans to succeed Senator. The activity of the Progressives, however, has badly muddled the South Dakota situation and it is doubtful who will control the legislature. Tennessee will take a preference vote on the regular election day, November 5, to decide who shall succeed Newell Saunders, the Republican appointee of Governor Hooper, in the senate. The successor of Senator Watson of West Virginia is yet to be decided. Senator Warren of Wyoming has been renominated by the Republicans. John B. Kendrick has been endorsed by the Democrats.

DENEEN HAS ANSWER FOR COL. ROOSEVELT

Governor Issues Statement Defending His Record in Connection With Chicago Convention.

The substance of a statement issued by Governor Deneen in reply to the attack made on him by Col. Roosevelt is given herewith. Governor Deneen made a statement Monday night answering the attack made upon him in Chicago Saturday by Colonel Roosevelt. Setting out the details of each incident referred to in Colonel Roosevelt's statement, in substantiation of his position, Governor Deneen makes the following points: He declares Colonel Roosevelt denies facts which embarrass him and misstates and colors other facts in an attempt to justify his conduct toward the Republicans of Illinois and toward Governor Deneen. He says Colonel Roosevelt sent for him and asked him to limit to thirty-four, the delegates to be contested on roll call in the Republican national convention. Answering the colonel's statement that he (Deneen) moved to "throw out" seventy-eight delegates, Governor Deneen presents a copy of the resolution itself, which merely provided that these delegates be not permitted to vote on the question of whether they should be seated.

He says he voted with the Roosevelt delegates to unseat the two California delegates whose seats were in question and upon every other question affecting Roosevelt's candidacy up to the time he withdrew from the convention.

He quotes the admission made by Frank Munsey, one of Roosevelt's closest political lieutenants, that while Roosevelt was crying "crook" and quoting the Scriptural injunction, "Thou shalt not steal" fake contests were being raised by the Roosevelt supporters in the southern states "for psychological effect" and in Munsey's own words, "it was never expected that they would be taken very seriously."

He says Colonel Roosevelt went out of his way to injure him by garbled quotations in an effort to make it appear that he was an ally of William Lorimer.

He calls attention to the fact that a committee of five representing Colonel Roosevelt's party, waited upon him after the Chicago convention and assured him if he would betray the party that nominated him and declare himself for Roosevelt, he would have the support of the Roosevelt party in the present campaign.

The governor concludes his statement with the declaration that Col. Roosevelt received fair treatment from the Republicans of Illinois, from the national convention delegates from this state and from himself, but because Roosevelt failed and because the governor refused to desert the Republican party, he is subjected to unprovoked abuse.

Geo. T. Craddock, Ruble, Ark., says: "I was bothered with lumbago for seven years so bad I could not work. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine which gave me little or no relief. Two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me and now I can do any kind of work. I cheerfully recommend them to my friends." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

BUGGY DEMOLISHED.

Monday afternoon, as Edward Tobin and his brother, Patrick were driving to the city along East State street, just west of the Blind institution and east of the railroad crossing, the mare, which is a high spirited animal, began to be restless and show signs of trouble. Mr. Tobin was driving on the street railroad track at the time and didn't hear an approaching car and undertook to turn around on the track, when the car struck the vehicle. He and his brother were thrown out, but not much hurt. Three wheels and some other parts of the rig were demolished and the mare set free by a broken harness. Mr. Tobin held on to her and stopped her from running away. He had the transfer company bring his buggy to the shop and loan him another in which to get home.

Chris Horner of Prentice was among the Monday callers in the city.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Fighting in the last trench, the New York Nationals repulsed the on-rushing Boston Americans today and sent them back to defeat by a score of 5 to 2 in the sixth game of the world's series. A victory for the Red Sox would have carried with it the title of world's champions of 1912, and when "Rube" Marquard walked off the Polo grounds this afternoon with his second triumph over Boston tucked away in the sleeve of his pitching arm, New York took hope that the Giants might be able to capture two more games and bring the title to this city.

The world's series now sat stands Boston 3 games won; New York 2 games won, and one tie. New York, however, did not win all the victories today. On the green turf just back of first base while the 30,000 spectators were leaving the grounds, Managers Stahl and McGraw tossed a coin to determine in which city the deciding game should be played in event New York won tomorrow in Boston.

Stahl won the toss and all the remaining games will be played on Boston's field.

President Taft Keeps in Touch With Game.

President Taft on Yacht Mayflower kept in touch with the game by wireless while reviewing the battleship fleet in the Hudson river. The inning score, were also wig-wagged from ship to ship all along the line so that every man jack of those abroad could know the progress of the game.

All the action of the day's game came early and when the smoke of battle floated away at the end of the second inning the score stood five to two in favor of the Giants and thereafter neither side could add a tally in the face of the superb twirling of the left-handers, "Rube" Marquard and Ray Collins.

The Boston southpaw had been called to the firing line after the Giants had touched off an explosion of hits off O'Brien's moist ball. The fusillade of hits came with such suddenness that for the first time in the series the Boston infield were unable to meet the attack of the New Yorkers.

How the Runs Were Made in the First Inning.

Two crisp doubles, four singles, a balk by O'Brien and a double steal netted New York five runs in the first inning. Oddly enough, the four singles garnered by the Giants were slow infield rollers which on the soggy diamond were difficult to handle. Boston made its tallies in the second on Marquard's error on Gardner's grounder, a hit by Stahl and a two base smash by Engle, who batted for O'Brien.

"Rube" Marquard, curved them over low and then sent his fast ones around the necks of the Boston batters. One of the results of Marquard's service was a great day for the Giant outfielders. The trio of gardeners—Murray, Snodgrass and Devore—covered acres of ground and gobbled up no less than 15 fly balls. Of these Murray in right captured seven while Snodgrass took six and Devore two.

The Bostonians fought gamely to overcome the lead of five runs which the Giants piled up at the start.

Red Sox Tally Twice in Second Inning.

The Red Sox made two runs in the second but their attack was broken in the third with a brilliant catch by Snodgrass. This play was the turning point in Boston's offense. Stahl made first on a hit when Wagner drove a screaming liner to deep center. Snodgrass turned and ran toward the fence. The drive looked good for a home run and Stahl was rounding second with Wagner turning first when Snodgrass caught the ball as it came over his shoulder. That ended Boston, and with the exception of the eighth Marquard sent the Red Sox back to the bench in one, two, three order in every inning. Ray Collins twirled a fine game and in the seven innings that the Giants faced him not a run was scored.

While no announcement of battery selections for Tuesday's game were made, it is generally believed that Wood will toil for Boston while Mathewson will pitch for New York. The total paid attendance at today's game was 29,922 and the total receipts amounted to $66,654 of which each club received $29,994.30. The National commission's share was $6,665.10.

NOTABLE CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCE

Nazareth, Ky., Oct. 1.—Nazareth academy, conducted by the Order of the Sisters of Charity, today entered upon a week's celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the institution. The first home of the sisters was a log house.

They took charge of the humble seminary nearby and spun wool and wove on the loom cloth for the seminarians and themselves. In 1822 they transferred their quarters to the present location, and here, besides the convent, is their mother house. Under the title, "The Nazareth Literary and Benevolent Institution," the community received a charter from the Kentucky legislature in 1829.

This, the opening day of the centennial celebration, was given over to the alumnae of the seminary. Tomorrow will be Founders' day, and, in the presence of many members of the hierarchy and clergy, memorials to Bishop John B. David, coadjutor to the first bishop of Louisville, Rt. Rev. Benedict J. Flaget, and founder of the order, and Catherine Spalding, first superior, will be unveiled. Exercises in memory of the dead will be held Wednesday, and Thursday's program will be in charge of the students. A special celebration will be held Saturday in honor of the old colored servants of Nazareth, their children and grandchildren.

QUICK RELIEF FOR RHEUMATISM.

George W. Koons, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she could not move and on Wednesday she got up, dressed herself and walked out for breakfast." Sold by L. P. Allcott, druggist.

AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. L. D. Schultz, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is making a brief tour of the state of Illinois under the auspices of the Home Mission society, and will speak at the First Baptist church in this city Friday evening at 7:30. Mr. Schultz is in close touch with the labor question, being a member of the United Mine Workers of America, advisor to the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor and a fraternal delegate to the Iron City Trades Council of Pittsburgh. He is qualified to speak of a question that is agitating the nation. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in the labor question to hear him.

J. G. Criswell, a painter living at 540 North Mulberry street, Hagerstown, Md., states: "I had kidney trouble with a severe pain across my back and could hardly get up after sitting down. I took Foley Kidney Pills and soon found the pain left my back. I could get up and down with ease, and the bladder action was more regular and normal." Try them." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

GOODS FOR PASSAVANT.

During the past few weeks a number of ladies have promised canned goods, jellies or similar articles for Passavant hospital. All friends in the country are kindly requested to bring in their gifts at their first convenience and those in the city will please have their articles for the hospital ready by the last of this week if possible and an effort will be made to call for them.

All persons who have not promised anything but are willing to aid the hospital in this manner will confer a favor by notifying Mrs. Kate Hollinger, 205 South Prairie street or Ill. phone 993.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Howard of this city and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Foreney of Morganville, Kan., visited with relatives and friends in Bluffs Sunday. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Foreney are sisters.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN REGULATES STOMACH

Time! In Five Minutes the Gas, Sourness, Heartburn and Indigestion Misery is Gone.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into staphora lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS

Those that make for comfort, convenience and economy and are lived up to—such are the resolutions to install gas in the home, as a means for lighting, heating and cooking. Certainly no intelligent man or woman today would be without gas unless they were where it could not be secured. As a matter of fact, people in the country realize so fully its advantages that they have imitated it by installing acetylene plants, which are extremely costly. However, for the small sum of $1.25 per room, you can have gas in your home. Why not see us today about this matter?

GENERAL MARKET NEWS

WAR TALK CAUSES FLURRY IN WHEAT

Corn Shows Slight Downward Tendency—Provision Prices Very Irregular.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Oct. 14.—(War excitement made the wheat market rush upward today and left prices unsettled 1 1/2 to 2 above Friday night. Corn furnished 1/4 to 1/2 down. Oats varying from 1/4 off to a like amount up, and provisions strung out from 22 1/2c decline to a rise of 10c.

Fear that the Dardanelles would be closed put wheat speculators into a mood to buy freely. More substantial basis for taking that side of the market lay in the fact that British consuls had broken to the lowest point in a century. Sentiment against the bears was increased also by depression in the security market.

Rapid price changes took place chiefly at the outset in the wheat pit.
Later the activity was so pronounced and the wildness of the fluctuations became so noticeable owing to assurances that the dardanelles, contrary to previous reports, were likely to remain open.

One thing that tended to calm the fever of wheat traders was the circumstance that export sales did not keep pace with the advance in European quotations.

For the first time in over two months there was December wheat today. The May futures went to $1.00 1/2.

December, the leading option, ranged from 94 1/2c to 95 1/2c, with the close 1 1/2c higher at 95 1/2c.

Corn at first responded to the upturn in wheat but subsequently lower under the influence of big sales on the part of a leading elevator concern. December fluctuated between 53 1/2c and 54 1/2c, closing steady 1/2c down at 53 1/2c.

MORE SCHOOLS VISITED

Two Rural Temples of Learning Called on and Pleasant Exercises In Both Cases.

Monday morning the writer spent in the pleasant occupation of visiting some more of our rural schools of learning and as usual the calls were very pleasant and it is hoped also that some good will come of these visits. It is always a delight to stand before a number of bright boys and girls and look into their faces and think of the possibilities there. The schools are our bulwark of liberty as has been said many times and it is certain that our county has a goodly number of these within its borders.

At Sherman School.

The first one visited Monday was the Sherman school, a few miles north of the city on the Beardstown road, and a pleasant time was enjoyed there. The capable teacher is Miss Mariam Kenyon and she proudly informed the visitor that she had the best directors and the best school in Morgan county and she would stand back for none. She said she had no need of a rod for correction as her pupils were not governed that way and were honorable and didn't need that kind of punishment.

The building is in reasonably good order and the teacher said the directors were ready to supply the school with all needed maps and charts and whatever else was needed. The school grounds are of good size and adorned with fine trees and in general there is an air of prosperity about the place.

But now, dear brother directors, don't get lifted up too high and think the newspaper man couldn't find anything to criticize. Far from it; there is a step down in the style and while there is no especial danger as it is used mostly in the daytime, still some little one might stumble on it and get a bad fall. No doubt the next time the Journal man goes there the steps will be in good order.

One thing the traveling scribe must say; when he talks to the pupils he likes very much to receive questions from them at the close and honor to whom honor is due. He received rather more questions at the Sherman school than at any other in the county. In fact, the call resolved itself into a regular conversational social and had not duty called elsewhere it is hard to tell when the visitor would have left. Certainly the visit was pleasant. By their own efforts the pupils raised money for some nice pictures which adorn the walls and they are well selected and a source of congratulation.

The directors are: Charles Black, John Laurie, T. P. Martin.

Studies.
Spelling, Reading, Arithmetic, History, Geography, Writing, Physiology, Grammar, Agriculture.

Pupils.

Clarence Taylor, Lawrence Henderson, Paul Black, Murry Martin, Lewis Murgatroyd, Elmer Murgatroyd, Thomas Murgatroyd, Arthur Murgatroyd, Jerome DeFreitas, Alonzo Hughes, Floyd Waltman, Hurstel Robison, Harold James, Robert Sperry, Vernon Sperry, Percy Sperry, Sophronia Hughes, Ruth Ferguson, Geneva Arthur, Irene Ferguson, Hazel James, Shirley Murgatroyd, Robertine DeFreitas, Helen Murgatroyd, Gladys James, Irene Waltman, Clara Murgatroyd, Nettie Sperry.

From the Sherman school go south the first road running east, follow that to the first road running south and follow that to the first one running east and follow that and it will bring the traveler to

The Trinidad school, District 62, which is taught by that capable and experienced instructor, E. M. Vasconcellos, and without any flattery or fulsome eulogy it may justly be said that a school is fortunate to have him for a teacher.

Mr. Vasconcellos has a goodly number of bright young people to handle and he surpasses any school in which he has taught his pupils to move about the apartment. On the other hand they do not move as if by fear, but take a pride in their fine drills. As the visitor wished to talk with them and show them some pictures it was a delight to see the manner in which their teacher marshalled them to the front part of the room and at the close back to their seats and then dismissed them for the noon hour. The precision of their movements would have done credit to soldiers.

During his address the caller asked a number of questions and received intelligent answers from one or more in each case, though they hesitated to ask question, but will probably feel better acquainted at the next call.

Trinidad School.

The directors are John Souza, Noah Menezes, Manuel Souza, and Mr. Vasconcellos said they were good to supply the school with needed apparatus. He also boasts a nice cabinet organ and a goodly number of maps, charts and the like and the directors are expecting to add a copy of each of the books used in the school and some other books of reference in addition. The school now has an encyclopedia, three dictionaries and other useful articles.

The walls are papered but here, as in so many other instances, there are no pictures of any consequence and a number of these would certainly be a wise addition to the outfit and would cost but little. The school plant has one unfortunate drawback and that is the lack of land about the building. The schoolhouse comes within a few feet of the adjacent fields and while two small trees are in front they afford little shade. If an acre or two of land could be bought next to the school building at anything like a reasonable price it would be a good investment which the directors would be wise in making and the Journal has faith to think their act would meet the approbation of the people of the district.

Mr. Vasconcellos said his class in physiology had begun with the year and already could tell the number and names of the bones in the body. They are good pupils and ready learners.

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Jacksonville Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an itching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Jacksonville citizen says:

Mrs. Dora E. Price, Plum street, Jacksonville, Ill., says: "A few months ago I was attacked by pain across the small of my back and some time after an attack of laziness affected my kidneys. The kidney secretions became unnatural, causing me much annoyance. I had often heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and resolving to try them, procured a supply at Armstrongs' Drug Store. Soon after I began using them the pain disappeared and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition. I willingly allow my name to be used in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills.

BAD BREATH.

It's Your Duty to Get at the Cause and Remove it—A Word to the Wise, You Know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, oil the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them. Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system of impurities.

They do all that dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Take one every night for a week and note the effect.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

AT SOCIALIST HALL.

"Economics of the Bible" Was Theme of F. T. Maxwell, Who Addressed Large Audience.

The meeting at the Socialist Hall on Sunday was a decided success. Miss Grace Hoffman acted as chairman, and her efforts were agreeably received by the audience. Unfortunately, however, she was obliged to leave the meeting at the middle of the program, together with Prof. de Arnold and her sister, in order to fulfill an engagement at the State School for the Blind, where they rendered a musical program at 3 p. m. Lack of time prevented the chairman from delivering her address, and her vocal solo, "The Worker's Alarm Clock," also the violin solo by Minnie Hoffman.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, who announced the program, as follows:

Reading, "The Walkers," by Miss Minnie Hoffman.

Violin and piano, trios, Albumati, by DeArnold, Minnet, by Beethoven—George De Arnold, Minnie Hoffman and Grace Hoffman.

Reading of letters from presidential candidate, Eugene V. Debs, and vice presidential candidate, Emil Seidel.

Then followed the address by F. T. Maxwell, candidate for lieutenant governor, which was listened to very attentively by the audience, and much appreciated.

His subject was "Economics of the Bible," and he handled it in a brilliant, logical and forceful manner. He used the economic teachings of Moses, Christ and Isaiah as a Biblical defense of the rights of the working class as exemplified in the teachings of Socialism. He laid great stress upon the lack of conception of the economic teachings of these great teachers, on the part of our church people, Catholic and Protestant.

These infer from the teachings of these scholars that they are meant in a spiritual way, and so, in accordance, they are teaching from the pulpit, that the people should be humble, obedient to their masters, that "Poverty is Divine," and that we would receive our reward in heaven. That Isaiah's reference to a new heaven, a new city, a new country, referred to the after life. The speaker maintained that the prophet referred to the earthly life. He aimed to lay a better foundation for a better social life. He taught sound economic doctrines which safeguarded a real brotherhood of man.

He pointed out in his references to the bible, that the prophets and teachers in those times taught fine morals, and showed especially in Christ's teachings, Matthew, 23:14 wherein he applied the term "hypocrites" to the Scribes and Pharisees for "devouring widow's houses."

Again, in "The Lord's Prayer," "Thy kingdom come, on earth as it is in heaven," emphasizing the material desires and necessities of mankind.

Again, Isaiah, 45-17: "For behold, new heavens and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind."

Again, Leviticus, 25-23: "The land shall not be sold forever, for the land is mine, for ye are sojourners and strangers with me."

Other references to the bible were made, showing a true economic interpretation of the teachings of the prophets and teachers, which is so much neglected by our modern teachers, and which, therefore, greatly accounts for the lack of interest in the churches by the workers.

Taken all in all, it was a fine defense of Socialism from the standpoint of the economic teachings contained in the bible, as seen by the speaker, and was intently listened to by the audience.

CAUSE MEANS MORE THAN OWN SAFETY

Roosevelt Declares He Cares Not a Rap for Wound—Told Audience Newspapers Are to Blame.

"I picked the man up and held him where Col. Roosevelt could see him. The poor creature," said the colonel.

"I put the revolver into my pocket and began to drag the man out of the crowd, which was on us in a minute, struggling to get at the prisoner. Colonel Roosevelt saw that the man was in danger, and it was his act which saved him. He told the crowd to stand back and they did. Captain Girard and I dragged him into the hotel and turned him over to the police."

"We came back to the automobile and started for the Auditorium. As we were riding along the street McGrath called the colonel's attention to a hole in his coat. Colonel Roosevelt unbuttoned his coats."

"Why I'm bleeding," he said, but he insisted that his wound was not serious and that he must not disappoint the crowd at the Auditorium. So we drove on."

Martin exhibited the revolver which he had taken from the assassin. It was a large weapon, evidently newly purchased, of 38 calibre.

Colonel Sends Telegram Home.

New York, Oct. 14.—Shortly after midnight Mrs. Roosevelt received a telegram which had evidently been dictated by her husband, assuring her that he was in no danger and making light of the attempt on his life.

The telegram read:

"I am now in the American hospital. The bullet did not hit anything vital and I think they will find it somewhere around. It is no more serious than the injury the boys received. My voice is holding out well and I will go on with the trip. Don't worry. Love to all."

(Signed) Theodore Roosevelt.

Does Not Mind Wound.

"I do not care a rap about being shot; not a rap," said Colonel Roosevelt in his speech tonight. "Friends," he began, "I shall have to ask you to be as quiet as possible. I do not know whether you understand that I have just been shot, but it takes more than that to kill a Bull Moose. But fortunately I had my manuscript (holding up the manuscript showing the audience where the bullet had gone through) so you see I was going to make a long speech. And friends, the hole in it is that the bullet went through and it probably saved it from going into my heart. The bullet is in me now so that I cannot make a very long speech, but I will try my best. And now, friends, I want to take advantage of this incident to say a solemn word of warning as I know how to my fellow Americans. First of all, I want to say this about myself. I have altogether too many important things to think of to pay any heed or feel any concern over my own death. Now I would not speak to you insincerely within five minutes of being shot. I am telling the literal truth when I say my concern is for many other things. It is not in the least for my own life."

Officer Should Not Know Fear.

"I want you to understand that I am ahead of the game anyway. No man has had a happier life than I have had, a happier life in every way. I have been able to do certain things that I greatly wished to do and I am interested in doing other things. I can tell you with absolute truthfulness that I am very much interested in whether I am shot or not. It was just as when I was colonel of my regiment, I always felt that a private was to be excused for feeling at times some pang of anxiety about his personal safety, but I cannot understand a man fit to be colonel who can pay any heed to his personal safety when he is occupied as he ought to be occupied with the absorbing desire to do his duty."

In Serious Vein.

He then spoke of how his heart and soul were in the Progressive movement.

"A movement for the betterment of mankind, the movement for making life a little easier for all our people, a movement to try to take the burdens off the man and especially the woman in this country who is most oppressed."

"Friends," he continued, "I ask you now this evening to accept what I am not thinking of my own success, I am not thinking of my life or anything connected with me personally."

ally. I am saying this by way of introduction because I want to say something very serious to our people and especially to the newspapers. I don't know who the man was who shot me tonight. He was seized by one of my stenographers, Mr. Martin, and I suppose is in the hands of the police now. He shot to kill me. He shot the bullet. I am just going to show you. (Col. Roosevelt then unbuttoned his coat and vest and showed his white shirt stained with blood). I don't know who he was or what party he represented. He was a coward. He stood in the darkness in the crowd around the automobile and when they cheered me and I got up to bow he stepped forward and shot me in the breast. It is a very natural thing that weak and vicious minds should be inclined to acts of violence by the kind of foul mendacity and abuse that have been heaped upon me for the last three months by the papers in the interests not only of Mr. Debs, but of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft.

Says Newspapers Are to Blame.

"Friends, I will disown and repudiate any man of my party who attacks with such vile, foul slander and abuse my opponents of any other party. Now I wish to say seriously to the speakers and to the newspapers representing both the Republican and Democratic and Socialist parties that they cannot month in and month out, year in and year out, make the kind of slanderous, bitter and malevolent assaults that they have made not expect that brutal and violent characters, especially when the brutality is accompanied by not two strong minds, they cannot expect that such natures will be unaffected by it. I am not speaking for myself at all. I give you my word, I do not care a rap about being shot, not a rap. I have had a good many experiences in my time and this is only one of them. What I do care for is my country. I wish I were able to impress on our people the duty to feel strongly, but to speak truthfully of their opponents. I say now that I never used on the stump one word against any opponent that I would not defend in the laboratory."

"I have said nothing that I could not substantiate and nothing I should not have said, nothing that looking back I would not say again. I am all right."

Penetrated Abdominal Wall.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Reports received at Progressive headquarters here state that the bullet penetrated three inches of the abdominal wall and the wound is more serious than at first thought. This was shown by the X-ray photograph which has just been developed.

Telegram of Sympathy.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.—Fredrick A. Geier, chairman of the national prosperity league of the Republican party sent the following telegram to Colonel Roosevelt from here today:

"We are shocked to learn of the attempt on your life. This must be deeply deplored by all citizens, irrespective of their political affiliations. We are certain that the people of this country desire that the issues in this campaign should be decided in all soberness and that all citizens will join in righteous condemnation of this cowardly act. We sincerely trust that the injury will prove slight and that you will be able to continue your campaign."

COMMENT IN WASHINGTON.

People in National Capital Shocked by Report—Expressions of Sympathy Heard on All Sides.

Washington, Oct. 14.—News of the attack upon Colonel Roosevelt's life came as a complete shock to Washington official and ordinary. Crowds surrounded bulletin boards and eagerly read newspaper extras. Nearly all the members of the cabinet are out of town.

Senator Mose E. Clapp of Minnesota, conceded by all to be one of Colonel Roosevelt's friends in the senate was shocked at the news.

"It is most distressing," said the senator, who expressed belief at the further news that the colonel's wound did not appear serious. "It cannot injure the cause, however, the movement will go on just the same."

Lawrence O. Murphy, comptroller of the currency and one of the Roosevelt cabinet, was notified just before midnight of the attempted assassination.

"It is a terrible thing," he said. "I trust the injuries will prove not to be serious."

The common response to the news that an attempt had been made on the colonel's life was: "I hope that it won't be serious."

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

COL. LEWIS RECOVERS JEWELS.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Valuable jewelry including a number of rings and pins, the property of Col. James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for United States senator from Illinois were among stolen property recovered by the police today. They arrested two former employees of a residence hotel. Colonel Lewis reported the theft to the police a week ago, his loss being among a number of hotel thefts in this city recently. The total amount recovered today was about $10,000.

Mrs. F. G. Farrell, who has been sick for a number of months, is again in a critical condition.

ADDRESSED STUDENTS.

Prof. J. H. Rayburn, Sr., addressed the students at the High school Monday morning. His talk was along the line of athletics and he praised the work of the football team in the game Saturday with the Western Military academy.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Members of the King-Parsons bridal party were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Bancroft at a dinner, served at Colonial Inn Monday evening. All the appointments were such as to make the event the most delightful of the ante-nuptial functions. The decorations were exquisite. In the parlor the color effect was yellow, in the hall, red, and in the library, green was used with red roses. In the dining room the lights and draperies were of pink. From the wall, over the center of the large dining table was suspended a shower of white wedding bells, tied with tulle and on each wedding bell was an orange blossom; also little cupid's suspended by pink ribbons formed part of the shower. From this center decoration there was extended a pink ribbon to each chair, making a beautiful scene. In the center of the table was a large bouquet of Kilmear roses and from this center to each plate there extended little bows of pink ribbons and roses. At each plate there were pink baskets for the salted nuts and pink heart-shaped boxes for the bonbons. The place cards were cupids. The wedding cake was made in the shape of a heart, with two small hearts which formed the top, the word "Harriet" being on one and the word "Harrison" on the other. The elegant dinner, consisting of nine courses was faultlessly served, after which the loving cup was passed and toasts were given. The gifts of the bride to her attendants consisted of beautiful gold friendship circles set with pearls. The gifts of the groom were two thermos bottles in leather cases on which were engraved the name of each young man. Those at the dinner were Miss Harriett Parsons, Mr. Harrison King, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bancroft, Miss Jeanette Russell, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Emma Allen, Miss Rose Bellatti, Mrs. W. H. H. King, Mrs. J. A. Parsons, Mr. Richard Rowe, Mr. George Greer, Mr. Allen King, Mr. Marcy Osborne and Rev. H. M. Chittenden of Alton.

The students of the Illinois Woman's college enjoyed their annual picnic Monday afternoon at Fairview, the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Pinner. This picnic is one of the autumn events of the calendar at the Woman's college and is always looked forward to by the students. This year there were fully three hundred present and the afternoon was most pleasantly spent. The luncheon was served in cafeteria style, a long line being formed, with the guests and faculty in the lead, and the students following, and as they passed the table the luncheon was handed out to them. After partaking of the luncheon the young ladies passed the afternoon with various outdoor games and one of the features of entertainment was the building of a large bonfire and toasting marshmallows. The Ladies' Aid society of the Mt. Zion church spent a delightful afternoon recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bracewell, near Murrayville. The hostesses were Mrs. S. A. Bracewell, Mrs. Charles Rousey, Mrs. Henry Rea and Miss Lyndel Rea. The afternoon was spent in a delightful social manner. Music was given by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hardesty of Manchester and Miss Stella Covington. Miss Alma Mutch gave two readings entitled "Popping the Question" and "Suzie's Torment," both of which were greatly appreciated. The house was prettily decorated in pink and white, and the same colors were carried out in the refreshments served. The next meeting will take place Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Heintz entertained a company of men at dinner Saturday night at their home on South Diamond street, in honor of the uncle of the host, George A. Heintz, a well known business man of Toledo, Ohio. The guests were nearly all men with whom Mr. Heintz has become acquainted during former visits to Jacksonville.

Miss Ethel Ricks entertained the girls of the millinery department at Herman's, at her home on Allen avenue Monday evening. About sixteen young ladies were present and a very pleasant evening was spent with various games and during the evening delicious refreshments were served.

FRESHMEN DINE AT PEACOCK INN

Delightful Evening Spent by First Year Class of Illinois College—Prof. Whisler in role of Toastmaster.

Fifty members of the Freshmen class of Illinois college enjoyed a royal feast at the Peacock Inn, Monday night. This class numbers fifty-six in all, thirty-three boys and twenty-three girls. The members thought to make the celebration complete in every way, so earlier in the evening set about to capture every Sophomore available. Three or four members were caught, but all succeeded in getting away except one, so this part of the program was dispensed with. Prof. Percy Whisler, class officer, was named as toastmaster and he filled the position in a gratifying manner. The various toasts were heard with especial interest and the class starts the year off with high spirits. At the close of the banquet the members gave their class yell as follows:

Rah, Rah, Rah,
White and Green,
Illinois College,
S-I-X-T-E-E-N.

After a very excellent menu the following toasts were given:

"Our Colors"—Velma Dugger.
